

Owning Life

What is it?

Owning Life is a fun, activity-filled, three-session event that introduces you to life as an adult. The working world awaits you as you engage in activities such as goal writing, interviewing, and resume building. There will be seasoned professionals available to help as you enjoy a life simulation called On My Own. You will have a job, a salary, and a family as you progress through the simulation. By the end of the event you will have experience creating goals, exploring a career, and tracking spending.

This event is conducted through University of Tennessee Extension and is sponsored by local business owners.

Prizes and incentives will be awarded to those participating in all three sessions. You must attend at least one previous session to attend the final networking session.
