

Agent Guide: County Orientation for State 4-H Roundup

State 4-H Roundup is a premier event recognizing outstanding project work and leadership accomplishment of senior 4-H members. It is a unique experience and for some participants a life changing one. Conducting a county orientation for delegates and volunteer leaders attending the event will ensure you have a well-informed and prepared delegation.

Consider discussing the following:

1. Purposes of State 4-H Roundup. They can be found at <https://4h.tennessee.edu/roundup/>.
2. Who can attend: Youth that submitted a portfolio and where accepted to participate in the next competitive level which is Roundup. State All Star Conference is also held during Roundup. Initiated All Star members can attend Roundup, even if they are not involved in the competitive event. For more information on All Stars go to <https://4h.tennessee.edu/recognition/>. Youth not competing will participate in a service project.
3. Preparing well for the competitive event. Make sure youth competing know and understand what will take place at this level. Some of this information can be found at <https://4h.tennessee.edu/roundup/>. Go over the importance of personal presentation during an interview (clothing, etiquette, manners, posture, personal hygiene, proper language.)
4. Go over the program: This gives your delegation an idea of the different activities that will take place. Also, this is a good time to share the dress code and what to bring. This information can be found at <https://4h.tennessee.edu/roundup/>. Encourage your delegation to bring comfortable walking shoes and an umbrella/raincoat. They will be walking on and off campus to different locations.
5. Conduct: Make sure your delegation is aware they are representing not only their county 4-H program, but also the region and state. Participants will meet donors, university faculty, university administrators and even other youth group organizations on campus. Talk about the importance of being on time, listening attentively at all assemblies and meal events, dressing appropriately for each activity, using their cell phone responsibly, and being respectful of others - adults and youth. Go over Form 600A with them. Discuss general safety precautions (i.e. Lock dorm room doors, do not leave room after curfew, travel in groups for safety, etc.)
6. Discuss expectations for what your delegation can do when they return home (i.e. thank you notes, news articles, radio programs, presentations for other 4-H'ers, civic groups, etc.) Volunteers could share their experiences with other volunteers and parents.

7. Election of State 4-H Council takes place at Roundup. Inform your delegation of the election process, who is eligible to run, who can vote, guidelines for campaigning and speeches. For information on the elections go to <https://4h.tennessee.edu/roundup/>.
8. Share with volunteers expectations you have for them regarding conduct and communicating with you, regional staff, state staff and others. Share the importance of being a nurturing adult and participating in activities as well. Region and state staff may have additional assignments for volunteer leaders. Leaders will be sent their assignments about a week before Roundup (make sure the email address in SUPER is correct). Encourage volunteers and parents to visit our website and specifically read all information regarding Roundup - <https://4h.tennessee.edu/roundup/>.

All volunteers attending Roundup need to be in SUPER 4-H Enrollment as a level 3 volunteer - before you register them for Roundup.

Our goal is for everyone - youth and adult- to have a positive experience. Your efforts in preparing your county delegation for a meaningful experience is greatly appreciated, and will help make State 4-H Roundup a rewarding, educational activity for more than 400 Tennessee teens, volunteer leaders and co-workers in attendance.
